

Government of Dubai- KHDA encourages SYNERGY to Partner for 'What Worked' By COE Chapter Leader UAE Simran Vedvyas

More than 1,500 educators have attended What Works, including many heads and principals of various schools and institutes, teachers, educators, academia and students from across UAE.

SynergY youth group chosen to Partner and be one of the presenters for the event. Some of the members proudly and effectively showcased the interesting work done by SynergY in the recent few months at the finale event themed –“What Worked” for the year 2012-2013. Simran Vedvyas the founder and Chairperson SynergY who is a 14 year old student herself comments that-“ SynergY members are recognized and supported enthusiastically by all segments of the society and I am very happy and proud to Lead SynergY by Example and join hands with volunteers, students and members from various institutions across UAE.” Participating at the eventful day SynergY members got the opportunity to attend many focused and interesting workshops and lectures. They got to know about opportunities available to youth ahead of time and are determined to share with all the team members and avail to make the best use of these prospects

Dr Abdulla Al Karam, Director General of Knowledge and Human Development Authority describes the beauty of What Works in its simplicity because teachers, leaders and inspiring speakers come from within the community, which means that the practices and knowledge shared is practical, relevant and most importantly, sustainable. This initiative is very inspiring and encouraging. Since its launch in September 2012, What Works has attracted 120 schools in Dubai. Organized by education professionals from across Dubai’s private schools, this final event of the 2012-2013 academic series, What Worked, was long awaited but very well coordinated. In addition to teachers and student volunteers, representatives from Dunia Young Business Leaders Program, Youth in the Emirates Longitudinal Study, and the Sheikh Mohammed Centre for Cultural Understanding were also present at the event as Partners to share their expertise.

Listed on the Government of Dubai KHDA website SynergY is proud to share once again- SynergY is a group of young students from across the UAE who advocate the adoption of a more ecologically sustainable lifestyle.
