WE ARE ALL CHILDREN OF THE EARTH

Season Greetings!

It is no secret that times are hard. You hear it everyday. Unemployment numbers are up. Business revenue is down. Flooding in Pakistan. Fighting in the Middle East. More and more of the world is experiencing the instability of the economic climate, natural disasters, and extreme social issues.

But you may not have heard that young people are yearning for a more meaningful life—and greater connection—in every corner of the globe.

- In Nepal, youth are building schools and providing the opportunity of education to more than 1,100 children.
- In Pakistan, after severe flooding our young people are part of the relief efforts.
- In South Africa, through drama and dance the young people are affecting social change—addressing AIDS, teenage pregnancy, and alcohol and drug abuse.
- In a newly formed hub in Toronto, Canada, youth are beginning to explore the connection between spirituality and humanitarian work.

These activities are a glimpse of the results of our work with youth—to nurture their spirituality and encourage their contributions to local communities throughout the world. They need your help. Especially in these times.

That's why I hope you'll send a gift to make a real and immediate difference.

Your gift will support programs that nurture spirituality and interconnected communities. Working together, we can be the change needed in today's chaotic world.

Wont you consider a gift of $250 today? Your investment in youth is an investment in the future.

It is time to come together in our communities around the globe to build a positive future by taking good care of the present. Countless spiritual traditions as well as modern physics have come to the same conclusion, that we are all one. All part of a vast system that is intertwined and interdependent. Therefore working to promote peace in ourselves is a way of working to promote peace in the world.

The turmoil in the world today can unravel the threads that tie humanity together. You can help. I hope you will support the training and work of our young people.

Wishing you blessings,

Nina Meyerhof
